Travel lodging and room exceptions - operating guide

CURRENT 2026; effective 1 August 2026

Scope: Travel desk, domestic lodging and guest-rate accounts. This is fictional Meridian Works guidance. The following responsibilities apply only to the named activity, not to other procedures with similar labels.

An overnight business traveler must attach a paid hotel folio showing settlement; a reservation email alone is insufficient.

Request TRV-406 seeks a conference-block lodging exception; TRV-460 is reserved for a cancelled itinerary.

The coordinator records what actually happened, identifies the responsible owner and checks the applicable route. A similarly numbered form is not interchangeable with the recorded form. For a rejected submission, retain the original request and obtain corrected evidence rather than creating a replacement event.

Registry TRV-507: record the request in the pending owner-verification queue; this entry is not the named exception route.

Registry TRV-518: record the request in the pending owner-verification queue; this entry is not the named exception route.

Registry TRV-529: record the request in the pending owner-verification queue; this entry is not the named exception route.

Registry TRV-540: record the request in the pending owner-verification queue; this entry is not the named exception route.

Eligibility and operational limits. Select the named cohort and activity before applying a period or amount; different entitlements in this section are not substitutes.

Domestic employee rooms have a USD 165 nightly ceiling, while visiting consultant rooms are limited to USD 140.

Breakfast excluded from a room package can be reimbursed up to USD 12 per morning; included breakfast cannot be claimed again.

A valid request contains its underlying event date and the scope used for the calculation. Reviewers distinguish acknowledgement, completion and storage periods. A deadline for submitting evidence is not a service restoration promise. If the activity or group is not stated, escalate the question rather than borrowing a nearby rule.

Registry TRV-551: record the request in the pending owner-verification queue; this entry is not the named exception route.

Registry TRV-562: record the request in the pending owner-verification queue; this entry is not the named exception route.

Registry TRV-573: record the request in the pending owner-verification queue; this entry is not the named exception route.

Registry TRV-584: record the request in the pending owner-verification queue; this entry is not the named exception route.

Travel lodging and room exceptions - operating guide

CURRENT 2026; effective 1 August 2026

Document control: this 2026 operating guide is CURRENT and effective from 1 August 2026. The 2024 edition is archived and superseded. No forecast for a later year is stated.

The effective 2026 lodging policy requires booking six calendar days before departure.

Room eligibility is covered by the lodging guide. Guest-account settlement is governed by the finance annex.

The reference annex has its own scope. Staff should distinguish operational permission from commercial price, evidence retention and service specifications. Publication of a code or a process owner does not create a missing technical limit or a financial guarantee.

Amendment log: this edition consolidates the current timing rule and ownership path. Historical examples remain in the archive for traceability. They are not exceptions to the current rule. A request citing an older edition must be checked against the effective document before execution.
